ARLINGTON
VIRGINIA

PROFILE 2015

HISTORY

- + Arlington is an urban county of about 26 square miles located directly across the Potomac River from Washington DC. No incorporated towns or cities lie within Arlington's boundaries.
- + Originally part of the area surveyed for the nation's capital, the portion of the District on the west bank of the Potomac River was returned to the Commonwealth of Virginia by the U.S. Congress in 1846. This area was known as Alexandria City and Alexandria County until 1920 when the county portion was renamed Arlington County.

DEMOGRAPHICS

- + As of January 1, 2015, Arlington had an estimated population of 216,700, reflecting an increase of 4.4% since 2010. On average, Arlington's population has grown at about 1% per year since 2000.
- + Arlington County population estimates are based on housing unit counts and residential construction activity, which is closely monitored for changes and reported quarterly through development tracking reports. The U.S. Census Bureau also produces estimates at the county level that are higher due in part to the population migration methodology utilized by the U.S. Census Bureau. Historically, Arlington County's estimates are closer than the Census Bureau's estimates to the actual Decennial Census counts.
- + Arlington's population is forecast to grow to 283,000 persons by 2040.
- + As one of the most densely populated jurisdictions in the country, Arlington continues to support nationally recognized smart growth principles with transit oriented development, concentrating density around transit stations. As of January 1, 2015, Arlington had a population density of 8,399 persons per square mile.
- + Arlington Public Schools children who speak 88 languages and hail from 111 countries reflect the diversity of the County.
- + Arlington County is the most educated county in the Nation. In 2013, 71.7% of adults age 25 and older had a bachelor's degree or higher and 37.4% had a graduate or professional degree.

COMMUNITY

- + Arlington residents are actively involved in the community with 61 registered civic and citizen associations, 45 active County Board Commissions, and 178 community service organizations.

EMPLOYMENT

- + As of January 1, 2015, Arlington had an estimated 221,700 at-place employees. Government employees make up 24.2% of Arlington's labor force.
- + Arlington's top 5 private employers are Deloitte, Accenture, Virginia Hospital Center, SAIC/ Leidos, and Marriott International.
- + Arlington has the lowest unemployment rate in the region at 3.4%
- + Jobs in Arlington are forecast to grow to 301,300 jobs by 2040.

DEVELOPMENT

- + Arlington has more private office space than the downtowns of Los Angeles, Dallas, Denver, Seattle, or Atlanta. Arlington continues to grow with the addition of new development. In 2014, 1,539 residential units were completed.

TRANSPORTATION

- + Arlington residents and workers have a range of options for work and personal trips, and are served by 11 Metrorail station, 13 ART bus routes, 70 Capital Bikeshare stations, and 86 miles of bicycle routes and jogging trails.
- + The Pentagon Metrorail station has the highest volume of activity with over 30,000 combined station entries and exits for an average weekday.
